CLARKE COUNTY GAY

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MILLWOOD, August 4.—The lawn of the Blue Ridge Country Club near Millwood, was beautifully lighted up with Chinese lanterns Tuesday night, and presented a truly lovely scene, almost as bright as day. The part of the yard in front of the club-house was filled with chairs arranged in a theater effect, presenting the appearance of the beautiful Alhambra garden or some other resort in Eastern table land. The large, spacious porch was arranged as a theater and a beautiful play, entitled "A Rank Deception," was enacted.

The amateurs acted as if to the manner born, and it is hard to tell who did best his part, all did so well.

Those engaged in the play were Mrs. C. B. Jones, Miss Sybil Burwell, Miss Nannie Nelson, Messrs. L. T. Welton, J. Townsend Burwell and Hugh M. Nelson, Jr.

Before the commencement of the play and between the acts, a phonograph discoursed very classic and sweet music. After this the younger set indulged in a dance.

The large audience, made up of people in the immediate vicinity, and from Berryville and Winchester, together with the summer set, who now fill this neighborhood, all returned home at a late hour, much pleased with their evening out and well repaid for their time and money. Refreshments were served on the grounds, both before and after the play. At her beautiful home, "Saratoga," on Thursday evening, Mrs. R. Powell gave a delightful 5 o'clock tea to the ladies of the neighborhood, as well as the visitors. This was largely attended and enjoyed by all.

Robin Hood and the Bishop of Hereford

By FRANCIS JAMES CHILDS.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

Some they will talk of bold Robin Hood,
And some of barons bold,
But I'll tell you how he served the Bishop of Hereford,
When he robbed him of his gold.

As it befel in merry Barnsdale,
And under the green-wood tree,
The Bishop of Hereford was to come by,
With all his company.

"Come, kill a venison," said bold Robin Hood,
"Come, kill me a good fat deer;
The Bishop of Hereford is to dine with me to-day,
And he shall pay well for his cheer."

"We'll kill a fat venison," said bold Robin Hood,
"And dress it by the highway-side;
And we will watch the Bishop narrowly,
Least some other way he should ride."

Robin Hood dress'd himself in shepherd's attire,
With six of his men also;
And, when the Bishop of Hereford came by,
They about the fire did go.

"Oh! what is the matter?" then said the Bishop,
"Or for whom do you make this a-do?
Or why do you kill the king's venison,
When your company is so few?"

"We are shepherds," said bold Robin Hood,
"And we keep sheep all the year,
And we are disposed to be merry this day,
And to kill of the king's fat deer."

"You are brave fellows!" said the Bishop,
"And the king of your doings shall know;
Therefore make haste and come along with me,
For before the king you shall go."

"O pardon! O pardon!" said bold Robin Hood,
"O pardon, I thee pray!
For it becomes not your lordship's coat
To take so many lives away."

"No pardon, no pardon," says the Bishop,
"No pardon I thee owe;
Therefore make haste, and come along with me,
For before the king you shall go."

Then Robin set his back against a tree,
And his feet against a thorn,
And from underneath his shepherd's coat
He pull'd out a bugle-horn.

He put the little end to his mouth,
And a loud blast did he blow,
Till three score and ten of bold Robin's men
Came running all on a row.

All making obeysance to bold Robin Hood;
"Twas a comely sight for to see:
"What is the matter, master," said Little John,
"That you blow so hastily?"

"Oh! here is the Bishop of Hereford,
And no pardon we shall have;
"Cut off his head, master," said Little John,
"And throw him into his grave."

"O pardon! O pardon!" said the Bishop,
"O pardon! I thee pray;
For if I had known it had been you,
I'd have gone some other way."

"No pardon! no pardon!" said Robin Hood,
"No pardon I thee owe;
Therefore make haste and come along with me,
For to merry Barnsdale you shall go."

This Robin he took the Bishop by the hand,
And led him to merry Barnsdale;
He made him to stay and sup with him that night,
And to drink wine, beer and ale.

"Call in the reckoning," said the Bishop,
"For methinks it grows wondrous high;
"Lead me your purse, Bishop," said Little John,
"And I'll tell you by and bye."

Then Little John took the Bishop's cloak,
And spread it upon the ground,
And out of the Bishop's portmantua
He told three hundred pound.

"Here's money enough, master," said Little John,
"And a comely sight 'tis to see;
It makes me in charity with the Bishop,
Tho' he heartily loveth not me."

Robin Hood took the Bishop by the hand,
And he caused the music to play,
And he made the Bishop to dance in his boots,
And glad he could get away.
